

MARK OBERMAN

Mark has considerable knowledge and passion for water polo and is determined to benefit the sport in developing and growing communities across Western Australia. Mark has an extensive background and experience in water polo which extends to three generations of his family.

Being a health professional - and a former decorated national Water Polo player, proudly representing Australia for 15 years - Mark understands the importance of teamwork to forge strategies, participation and cohesiveness to achieve goals and success.

As a former sports coach and a business owner for the last 10 years, Mark has invaluable experience in people management and bringing the best out of individual personalities within a team. This wealth of experience in governance, combined with an extensive history and success as a water polo player, makes Mark a valuable contributor to the WPWAI board.

Mark is determined to see the sport as an enjoyable first choice for children to participate in and progress to adulthood.
